Plan should boost tourism, council told

The municipal council should take a strong and definite stand in support of commercial tourism expansion in the municipality, the Anson, Hindon and Minden council was told last Thursday. Godfrey Saunders, the owner-operator of the Northern Eagle Tent and Trailer Park on Lake Kashagawigamog appeared before the council to press the issue.

Saunders told the meeting he was bringing his concerns before the council at this time because of the ongoing preparation of the municipality's official plan. He said he believed the direction outlined in the first draft of the document was not the one the council intended in relation to commercial tourist developments in the townships.

He noted that the economy of the area relies heavily on tourism, specifically destination tourism. He said if the economy of the area is to expand, it will be through the growth of this sector.

"The plan does nothing to encourage this activity," Saunders told the meeting, "and may even serve to discourage future activity."

Saunders pointed out that the draft official plan used five pages to describe the Residential Designation section, three pages on aggregates and waste disposal, but only half a page on tourism, which he described as, "the most important activity in the municipality."

Saunders claimed the plan concentrated on the development of tourism accommodation along the Highway 35 corridor. He said this was not in line with the nature of tourism in the county. "We are a destination area. People come to this area to spend a weekend or a week or longer. They are not interested in staying in a hotel or motel on the highway, but rather in finding accommodations on a waterfront property."

He said that the official plan says only that "limited commercial development related to the tourism industry" would be permitted in waterfront areas. He asked how the council expected this sector of the economy to grow when limitations are placed on it.

"It is important to closely monitor any commercial activity on the waterfront to minimize the impact on water quality and adjoining property owners," Saunders admitted. "However, it is not wise to put undue restrictions on this type of development which is so vital to the municipality."

Nothing that the commercial assessment of the municipality now amounts to 8%, Saunders suggested any further growth would depend on the attitude taken by the municipalty as spelled out in the official plan.

Tourism study

He concluded by saying he remembers how upset the council of the day was when Peterborough-Haliburton Tourism study was released in 1981, when the Minden area was not mentioned as having development potential. "Minden will continue to be bypassed unless council makes the first move to create an atmosphere conducive to investment. I think much more work is necessary to develop the stated objectives in the official to increase economic activity in the tourism sector."

The comments drew an immediate endorsement from Councillor Dave Stevens. "There is no doubt about it, we are a destination tourism area," the councillor said.

Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas asked Saunders how he would suggest the council come to grips with his objections.

Saunders said he did not "have all the answers", but said the draft official plan appears to protect existing cottages and encourage more of the same, to the detriment of the commercial sector.

Councillor Pat Burk pointed out that there were limits to the amount of development which could take place on a particular lake. She said that if over-development is permitted, an undesirable situation would result, in which all parties would be the losers.

Saunders countered by noting that the draft official plan appears to severely limit the chance of an existing commercial operation to expand, or for a new operation to be started. "The use of the word 'limited' has placed a serious roadblock in the way," he told the council.

Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas said it wasn't the intention of the municipal council to place serious limitations on commercial tourism development. He said the number of pages devoted to various aspects of the plan is simply an indication of the impact pressure groups, such as cottage associations, have had on the planning process. He said that very little has been heard from the commercial tourist operations.

Councillor Gary Kenney agreed with that assessment. "It wasn't our intention to downplay this sector of the economy," he said. He suggested that Saunders was overly sensitive to the use of the word 'limited' in the draft plan. Kenney said it has always been council's intention to assist the Community relief effort suggested

A call from External Affairs Minister Joe Clark that individual Canadians should become involved in relief efforts to assist famine starved areas of the world has been heard in Minden.

Anson, Hindon and Minden Councillor Gary Kenney has suggested that the municipality co-ordinate a community effort which would extend aid to those areas of the world in need. He suggested that the council should contact area service clubs and churches to determine if they were interested in participating in a joint effort.

Kenney said tht at the moment Canadians are reacting to what he described as "media hype" concerning the plight of east Africans. He suggested similar concentrated media exposure had occurred with other tragedies, such as in Biafra, but the problem still existed after the western media had gone and attention shifted elsewhere.

"I don't want to make this a big deal," the councillor commented, "but feel if we could make a commitment as a municipality to provide a certain amount of money for relief efforts, that other municipalities in the province and across the country might follow a similar approach."

Questions were raised by other members of council as to whether there may be residents of the municipality who may have needs which the community may be overlooking. It was also suggested, in some cases, the funds raised for relief work are used to support the sponsoring agencies, or get sidetracked so that those with the greatest need do not receive the benefits.

Kenney said, if, in consultation with service clubs and area churches, a commitment of a certain amount of funding could be guaranteed, a representative of the community could take that commitment to External Affairs Minister Joe Clark and ask him to ensure it is spent carefully and where the need was greatest. "We would be answering his request for commun-

Councillors caught out of costume

After five months of dressing in the style of the early Minden pioneers, several members of the municipal council have been caught out of costume.

The council met November 14 in regular session. According to a resolution passed earlier this year, that meeting was to be the last at which members of the council were required to come dressed in pioneer attire. The dress code had been instituted to help mark the municipality's 125th anniversary.

According to the resolution setting out the terms of the dress code, the penalty for not meeting the requirements was to be set by a majority of the members of the council, or at least a $5 contribution to the council's coffee fund.

Caught without their pioneer duds on were Reeve Lyle McKnight, Councillor Dave Stevens and Clerk-treasurer Bev Millar. All agreed to make the $5 contribution to the coffee fund.

Members of the Minden Katimavik group completed their second rotation this week and moved on to Lac St. Jean in Quebec. While here the participants assisted on a number of municipal projects. The highlight of their stay was a conference on acid rain organized by the local group, which attracted over 200 from across Ontario. Members included, group leader Chris Niles, left, and participants, Benoit Pichette of Montreal, Manon Gareau of Longueuil, Alain Mitchell Lasalle, Sandra McEwen of Pembroke, Cheri Mortenson of Kelowna, and Gordon Taylor of Shubenacadie, Nova Scotia.

County residents receive Bicentennial medals

Percy Brintnell of Minden and Nelson Leary of Lutterworth Township have been awarded Bicentennial medals by the Government of Ontario in recognition of their service to the community.

The two long-time residents of the area area among the 1984 citizens of the province who are being honoured for their volunteer work.

Mr. Brintnell was nominated for the award by Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council.

He has served the community as a charter member of the Minden Rotary Club and has been an active supporter of the Minden Curling Club and the Minor Hockey Association.

Mr. Brintnell also served as the treasurer of Minden United Church and was on the Board of Stewards of the church.

Nelson Leary was the unanimous choice for the nomination by Lutterworth Township Council.

A life-long resident of the township, Mr. Leary is noted for his innumerable acts of kindness and the help he has given to many of the residents of the area.

Theodore Peacock, a trapper and guide from Gooderham has also been awarded the Bicentennial medal. The proceeds from the sale of the first 5000 copies of his book, "Tales of the Trail" were donated by Mr. Peacock to the Glamorgan Township Library.

William Gliddon of Haliburton, also a recipient of the award, formed the Haliburton County Centennial Choir and has tutored many children and adults in music.

The late William Dugan of Snowdon Township has been honoured for his work on the Minden Fairboard and the Haliburton County School Board.

Mr. Dugan was an elder in Lochlin United church for 45 years.

The medals, made of Ontario nickel and gold, feature the Ontario Coat of Arms on one side and the Ontario Bicentennial symbol on the other and are inscribed with the words "For Service to the Community."

The medals will be presented in a series of special ceremonies to take place across the province on December 9.

ities to become involved in this famine relief effort," Kenney told the meeting.

Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas said he thought the idea was an admirable one. He suggested the council write to the minister for more information and details on how the community might become involved in the effort.

The council then endorsed the proposal in principle.

A letter from councillor Kenney seeking input from other organizations and individuals in the community appears in this week's edition of The Times on page 4.

private sector. He pointed to the Boundary Information Centre and council's involvement with the Chamber of Commerce as two examples of its interest in the tourism sector. "We are not trying to set up roadblocks," the councillor concluded.

Pergolas said the council should seriously consider inserting a reference to the destination nature of the tourism industry in the area of the official plan.

A copy of the remarks presented by Mr. Saunders will be forwarded to Robert Lehman, the planning consultant who is assisting the municipality in the preparation of the official plan.

Riding-wide referendum suggested for capital punishment

A suggestion that Anson, Hindon and Minden council include a vote on capital punishment in the 1985 election ballot received a mixed reaction from members of the municipal council. The idea of a referendum was suggested at the November 8 meeting by Councillor Gary Kenney.

"Are you interested in promoting, at the local and county levels, a referendum on capital punishment?" Kenney asked.

"No," replied Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas.

Kenney said the matter was an important issue. He said that the only opinions now being heard on the matter were those of the police, certain members of parliament and other lobby groups. He suggested if a referendum could be held on a riding-wide basis, throughout the counties of Victoria - Haliburton, MP Bill Scott would get a clear indication of what the residents of his riding think about the issue.

Kenney suggested that many municipalities are including it on the ballot next year.

Pergolas said he thought that during the last municipal election municipalities were told that including referendum questions, such as those relating to the nuclear issue, on the ballot could invalidate all election results.

Reeve Lyle McKnight said he felt the municipality should explore the legality of including the question in the vote before trying to promote it among other municipalities. "I don't think anyone's against a referendum," McKnight said.

Councillor Dave Stevens suggested that if the death penalty is reinstated that it should apply to all who commit murder, not just the murders of police officers or prison guards.

"This is an issue which touches us all," Kenney told the council before the discussion ended. Any decision on the matter will await an assessment of the legality of including the referendum question with the next municipal vote.

Council applies for two grants

The council has applied for a Community Planning Study Grant to assist in the preparation of the municipality's restricted area bylaw (zoning bylaw). The grant, funded through the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing could provide up to 75% of the cost of preparing a revised zoning bylaw.

At the same time the council approved the hiring of Robert Lehman Planning Consultants to prepare a new zoning bylaw for the townships. The total cost of the project is estimated at $24,200.

Robert Lehman Planning Consultants is currently assisting the municipality in the preparation of the official plan.

The municipality also applied for a grant to assist in the construction of cross-country ski trails. The trails are being planned in conjunction with the Haliburton Highlands Nordic Trail Association which has laid out a plan to link a series of cross-country ski trails throughout the county.

The application, which has been made to the federal government under the Canada Works program, is in the amount of $81,868.65.

Time to be heard

The first item on the agenda of the Anson, Hindon and Minden township council meeting last Thursday provided a revealing lesson in the operation of a municipality and why residents should keep abreast of the actions the council is taking on their behalf.

Briefly put, a resident objected to the lack of emphasis on and support for the tourism industry in the municipality's official plan. In a well argued presentation, the individual brought to light a number of oversights, biases and shortcomings in the draft official plan.

The council, in the main, endorsed the comments which were made, saying in particular that it was not its intention to create "roadblocks" for the expansion of tourism in the municipality. The council agreed to incorporate some of the ideas included in the brief in the plan and send the entire commentary to its consultant for further study.

The official plan is meant to be a clear statement of the municipality's future. Obviously the clarity was lacking here because, while the council did not see any impediments in the wording of the draft plan, someone else did. While this council may be able to read between the lines (after all they wrote the lines in the first place), the document and its intent must be clear for future councils, who may not have the benefit of the author's insight.

A member of council admitted that the squeaky wheel theory is at work, vis a vis the amount of detail contained in the plan for certain sectors. The statements contained in an official plan are much easier to change now, in its draft stage, than once it has been adopted and endorsed by the provincial authorities. The future of the municipality is being charted now and all residents have an opportunity to help set the course. Now is the time to become involved.

Considering the important economic impact of tourism in this area, it is surprising no one has spoken up for that sector sooner. There are other interests in the municipality who have yet to be heard from...now is the time to be heard.

Editor:

It seems every few years or so many of us are jerked back to face certain grim realities that were more bearable when simmering on the back burner. The reality of world suffering due to famine is just such a case, and usually we are provoked to acts of charity when the agonizing photo of an emaciated and bloated infant hits the international wire services.

This week circumstances surrounding the anguish of millions of Ethiopians are especially poignant when considering that experts have just announced the 1984/85 world harvest as the record production of all time. Coarse grains are up 14%, wheat is up 3%, rice is up 2%, oilseed is up 11%.

Notwithstanding the local efforts that have been made and are continuing to be made, Anson, Hindon, Minden council would like to talk with churches, service groups, associations, and individuals to see what may be possible in the way of an onging municipal assistance toward the alleviation of world famine. We are, to paraphrase Mr. Joe Clark, aware of the many excuses why this cannot be done and are more interested to work with the reasons why it should be done.

If you would like to attend a meeting to discuss the possibilities, please contact me at 286-2817.

College strike

-by John Eakins, MPP-

During the past few weeks, my colleagues and I have been concerned with problems focused on our Community Colleges.

There is a good case to be made that the present strike was the result of the Minister's bad management of the situation, and failure or refusal to act at an early stage when she knew full well that she had a crisis on her hands.

The Fact Finder's Report of August 17 provides clear evidence for this view. The Fact Finder's Report stated that he "...had grave doubts that the parties will be able to reach agreement on the complex issues which divide them without the exercise of some form of economic sanctions either in this round or subsequent rounds of bargaining".

There is ample evidence that government funding has not kept pace with massive increases in college enrolments over the past five years. The president of one Community College believes that the colleges are as bad off as the universities, and there is no arguing that the universities have been strangled.

Implicit in the teachers' demand that all aspects of their job functions be considered when determining their proper work load, is an increased system cost comprised of salaries of new

Unless cooler heads prevail, Ontario could end up in an all out war with gulls. It's a war we have no certainty of winning and we don't know enough about it to fight in the first place.

In recent years, residents across southern Ontario have noticed a dramatic rise in the local population of "gulls". Actually, what we see are two of the sixteen gulls species that have occurred in the province - herring gulls and ring-billed gulls. Only the numbers of ring-billed gulls are surging upward, herring gulls being less adaptive to our world. That still leaves some impressive statistics. The Canadian Wildlife Service (CWS) estimates that 350,000 pairs of ring-billed gulls inhabit the Ontario reaches of the Great Lakes basin. Toronto's Leslie Street Spit, an artificial headland, is summer home to the fastest growing colony. Between 1973 and 1982 the number of pairs rose from 20,000 to 80,000.

The ring-billed gull is the smaller of the two common species, though they often share colony sites, and it can be distinguished by the black "ring" around its yellow bill and its yellow/green legs. In winter, most ring-billed gulls migrate south. Hence it is a protected species under the Federal Migratory Birds Convention Act administered by the CWS.

There is no doubt this scavenger can cause us problems by threatening airport safety, damaging crops, stressing other bird populations such as common terns, and by appearing uninvited at your family picnic. But do these problems justify the campaign being mounted within a number of communities to remove the gull from its internation protected status and authorize large scale extermination programs at the community level? I think not.

Gulls clean up a lot of our garbage. They're good at their job as scavengers. In fact, it doesn't take too much sense to figure out that our landfill and garbage areas are somehow related to their phenomenal population growth. As long as our life style doesn't change, we'll continue to lure and benefit from our feathered friends.

Even if we decide to drastically reduce the gull population, it's not clear how to do it. Some European countries are reported to have spent vast sums of money over 10 to 15 years and still not succeeded in their mission. Of course our efforts here in Canada would have to be matched in the U.S. So the Federal legislation might well be

A new parliamentary session

-by Bill Scott, MP-

Monday, November 5 was a remarkable occasion in the history of Canada. Our new government, under the Rt. Hon. Brian Mulroney met Parliament for the first time to open the First Session of the 33rd Parliament.

After we all found our new seats, mine in the front row for the first time, and quickly adjusted to sitting on the right hand side of the chair, our first act was to elect a new Speaker. At 11:00 a.m. we met and unanimously, as is the tradition, chose John Bosley to preside over the House of Commons. At 3:00 p.m., we proceeded to follow the Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod to the Senate Chamber to hear the Speech from the Throne.

Speeches from the Throne are designed to outline the general direction the government intends to take in the upcoming session. As such, they are really sketches of the plan of action for the next year or so.

This Throne Speech carried through on the ideas we presented in the recent election campaign. We are promising, in the Throne Speech, that our approach to Government will be different. We shall work ceaselessly to overcome the divisions in our country which have handicapped our national growth and prevented us from achieving our economic potential. We have promised a renewed spirit of true federalism. We will work with all economic partners ... business, labour, provincial governments and local governments. Those Canadian values and attitudes which have been left on the sidelines these past years must be renewed. Canadians must work together to rebuild the country we all hold so dear.

I am particularly pleased with the government's intentions to eliminate abuses in the correction system and better protect the public and the public's peace officer. Something must be done to stop the recent senseless killings of our police officers. As well, it is high time that the Criminal Code be updated to deal more effectively with impaired driving, soliciting, computer crimes and sentencing, as is proposed in the Throne Speech.

Some of the other measures which are proposed to fulfill our campaign goals are: a simplification of our taxation system, an extension of the income tested spouse's allowance to widows and widowers aged 60 to 64 regardless of the ages of their spouse at death, measures to improve the financial situation of war veterans, a redefinition of the role of Canada's defence forces.

Quoting from the Speech itself:

"This new Parliament is an historic opportunity to come past divisions in our country, and to purge the spirit of confrontation from the conduct of the nation's affairs.

The purpose of my government is to renew the confidence of Canadians that Parliament is truly the voice of the people, that government is their servant, and that federalism is the means to harmonize and preserve the splendid diversity of this land.

Above all, my government will enlist the active support and participation of Canadians themselves as we search for a new way of addressing our national responsibilities: a consenus in our economic life, tolerance in our national life, and a deep commitment to social justice and peace, at home and in the rest of the world."

In a separate move, on November 5, Agriculture Minister, the Hon. John Wise, suspended most recovery actions by the Farm Credit Corporation including those in progress until January 15, 1985.

This suspension will affect 300 borrowers where recovery actions are in progress and another 60 where recovery action was being considered prior to January 15. Recovery actions will continue where the farm has been abandoned, where bankruptcy has been delcared, where there has been a voluntary transfer of title or quit claim or where recovery action is initiated by another creditor forcing the Farm Credit Corporation to protect its security.

Students could lose school year

Indeed, the teachers were asking for an additional six per cent funding for the system, not for themselves, to permit growth and hiring of more teachers. This six per cent increase would add $50 million to the system.

On three separate occasions, my colleagues and I called for an emergency debate on the question. Each time the Conservative majority blocked discussion.

While supporting the Bill, and on the assumption that the teachers would return, our Party introduced amendments. These amendments would have the effect of bringing the issue of the quality of education, primarily the matter of teachers' workload, back to the bargaining table for the two parties to negotiate for a period of up to 30 days, or perhaps more if needed. If no agreement were reached in that reasonable time, the matter would be referred to an arbitrator.

From the very beginning, I felt that the Minister's attitude - her refusal to be conciliatory - was a contributing factor in causing the strike to occur and in causing it to continue at the expense of both students and teachers.

seen as part of the solution not the problem.

There's also the great danger that any locally administered province-wide control effort would inflict serious damage on other species.

But if we step back from the brink of war with the gull, what then? Clearly, some local problems require remedial action. And the CWS is ready to help, by issuing permits to landowners to scare away, prevent nestings, or kill problem birds under supervision. This is a sensible approach, since problems tend to vary from one area to another and management techniques will be improved by the experts through experience.

If we're careful, nature will do the job for us. As the Leslie Street Spit becomes fully vegetated, the gulls will depart. In the meantime, if you want more information, contact the Canadian Wildlife Service offices in either Ottawa or London.

Did you know?

by Bambi Gilder

Did you know...that the Ministry of Education offers a booklet designed for parents which explains how the public school system works and how to become even more involved in the education of our children?

The cost of elementary and secondary education in Ontario for the 1984 - 85 school year will be over 6.5 billion dollars. Find out what part you and your dollars play in this as taxpayers. Find out what you have a right to expect. You have an obligation to exercise your responsibilities as well as your rights, and you are entitled to expect no less from the educational system.

The public school system in Ontario is designed to respond to the needs, aptitudes, and aspirations of each individual child. It is a system that is second to none in Canada and equal to any in the world.

Why not drop in to your County Information and Referral Centre and pick up a copy of this booklet entitled "Education - What's in it for you?", free of charge.

We are located in the Drag River Municipal Building (across from Emmerson Lumber) in Haliburton and we are open 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. Give us a call at 457-2733 for information on social, health, governmental and environmental subjects.

Senior artists sought

by Teresa Congdon

New artists are being sought to display their art work in the Drop-In Centre, and the Home Support Office. If you are a Senior Citizen and are interested in this please call us at 457-2941.

Previously we advertised that we would be showing the movie "Tootsie" but this movie has now been changed to "Cannery Row". Although we have changed the movie title we are still giving all the money we receive by charging admission of $1.00 to the Peterborough Region Cat Scan Fund. Plan to attend, it's a great way to help get the Cat Scan for our area.

Now that it is getting cold outside why not join our card parties? Monday we have bridge, Wednesday we have euchre, and Friday we have cribbage. This is a good time to thank our conveners, Vi Smith, Roy Fleming, and Norm Clift. You people are doing terrific jobs at the centre.

Mr. Bruce Armstrong and Mr. Bruce Henry (The Two B's), spent Sunday, November 4, and Monday, November 5, at an Ontario Senior Games Conference in Campbellville. The two brought back great stories of the conference. There will be a meeting on Monday, November 26, at 10:00 a.m. in the Committee Room at the Drag River Municipal Building for all the Ontario Senior Games organizers.

Please come down and see us at the Drag River Municipal Building (across from Emmerson Lumber), or call us if you have any questions at 457-2941.

Council briefs

Items from the November 8 meeting of the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council meeting.

Resignation

The resignation of Gord Monk as chairman of the Minden Business Improvement Area (BIA) has been accepted by the council with regret. Details of the letter of resignation were not made public.

Software costs

The council has agreed to pay $375 to make changes to its tax computation program in its computer.

Last month the council agreed to alter the method of assigning payments received on back taxes so that penalty, interest and principal on the oldest outstanding year of unpaid taxes would be reduced first. Prior to the change, all penalties and interest charges had to be paid off before any amount would be charged against the oldest principal.

The change in the computer software will cost $375.

Heritage award

The Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police will receive one of the Heritage Awards being presented this year. The award, which will be made at a future meeting, will recognize the contribution of all members of the detachment, past and present, for their contribution to the welfare of the community. The award was suggested at the November 8 meeting as National Crime Prevention Week was taking place at the time.

Juveniles undefeated this season

The Minden Juveniles remain undefeated this season after skating to a decisive 11 - 3 victory in Sunderland Friday, November 9.

The victory was the team's first win on the road and the third victory of the season.

Minden was in charge of Friday's game from the opening face-off. The game was only 48 seconds old when Chris Laporte opened the scoring on an assist from Boomer Stamp.

Just over a minute later Bernie Upton made it 2 - 0 on a pass from Gord Wood.

Half way through the first period Sunderland narrowed the margin, scoring their first goal, but 50 seconds later Lennie Johnston put Minden up 3 - 1 after taking a pass from Captain Jeff Howe. Minden added two more goals in the dying minutes of the first period.

Goals by Boomer Stamp from Lennie Johnston and Tim Wood from Jeff Stamp put Minden ahead 5 - 1 after the first 15 minutes of play.

In the second period Minden continued to rack up points. Gord Wood scored an unassisted goal early in the period followed by Minden's seventh marker scored by Barry Boice on assists from Boomer Stamp and Scott Hamilton.

Sunderland added a goal then Jeff Stamp increased Minden's lead on an assist from Boomer Stamp.

Sunderland came right back with their third goal of the game but found themselves behind 9 - 3 at the end of the second period when Lennie Johnston scored his second goal of the night. The assist went to Jeff Howe.

The scorekeeper wasn't quite as busy in the third period. After 14 minutes of scoreless action, Chris Laporte chalked up his second goal of the night. Boomer Stamp helped out with his fourth assist of the game.

With five minutes remaining Jeff Howe boosted the score up to 11 - 3 with assists to Tim Wood and Chris Laporte.

Sunderland was assessed 41 minutes in penalties plus a double match penalty. Minden had 37 minutes in penalties and one match penalty.

The Juveniles travel to Little Britain on Friday, November 16 then host Gravenhurst at the Minden Arena on Sunday, November 18.

Game time is 4 p.m. on Sunday.

Tips on keeping your children safe

The following report on instructing children on street - proofing techniques has been prepared by Corporal J. E. Watkins, Community Services co-ordinator, OPP District 8, Peterborough.

There have been recent incidents throughout Ontario in which children have been abducted and harmed by child molesters. These incidents have created concern among all parents who begin questioning the safety of their own children in our community.

Parents can protect their children from abductions by teaching them what to do if suddenly confronted with a friendly or gift-giving stranger, neighbour or other adult.

First, while most of the people that children meet are good people, children should also be informed that some strangers may be harmful. Children know what we mean by harmful - they know it means hurting, kidnapping, assaulting and even killing. Discussion must be the first step.

Next, children should be instructed how to identify a potentially harmful stranger. The stranger will frequent areas used by children including playgrounds, school yards, movie theatres, pet shops and neighbourhood stores. If children see a stranger who continues to watch them play, who offers them candy or toys (including Cabbage-Patch dolls), or pets, they should be instructed to report the stranger to an adult they know and trust.

As parents we can avoid placing our children at risk. Don't send them to a movie without a person who will care for them, don't send them to a variety store at dusk or after dark on their own, and teach them good people don't give away candy, toys or pets without the parent's consent.

Many families have developed "passwords" that protect their children from advances by adults who entice children by saying they were sent by the parent. These passwords satisfy the child that he may go with an adult that knows the word, that he is not to go with anyone who does not. It is simple, but effective.

If children are being followed, instruct them to run to a nearby home. Don't tell them to run to someone's home they know - tell them to run to any home for protection. Especially alert them to homes showing the Block-Parent symbol in the window.

Block-Parent programs are an effective way for children to recognize safe places of refuge when confronted by strangers, are bullied by other children, or become sick or hurt. Each Block-Parent family is investigated by the police prior to receiving approval as a Block-Parent. Your children should be taught a Block-Parent is a friend and a neighbour who can be trusted. Communities interested in starting a Block-Parent program should contact either the Ontario Provincial Police or their local municipal police force.

The situation that most endangers children is leaving them alone, or allowing them to be sent out of the home alone. If it is necessary to leave the child at home alone, teach them the following rules:

1. Do not allow anyone, under any circumstances, to enter the home unless they are well known by the child. This includes repair service people, telephone repair, canvassers, and motorists claiming to have car trouble or that there is an accident.

2. Have the children lock the door when the parent leaves. Teach the child never to tell anyone on the telephone that they are home alone. If the caller has the phone number, they can obtain the address from the telephone book.

3. Leave the child the phone number where you can be contacted, and the phone number of a friend, neighbour or relative who can get to the home quickly in an emergency. Always leave the phone number of the local police force available to the child.

4. Never post a child's name or phone number for babysitting or other jobs on public announcement boards in stores or other public places. This information gives a potential assaulter a chance to contact your child and a reason to lure the child from the home.

5. Do not put your child's name visibly on his or her clothing. The child may assume the stranger is a friend simply because he calls the child by name.

Many parents have difficulty in discussing sexual molestation of children. We recommend that children be told that no one should touch any part of their body covered by a bathing suit.

The Ontario Provincial Police shares concern for the safety of your children and are hopeful these recommendations provide useful information for parents on protection from child molesters.

If children report incidents of suspicious strangers or other adults making advances toward them, consider their complaint as legitimate. Children need your reassurance that they are believed.

Finally, in all cases of children making complaints of this nature, contact the police.

Atoms on track after slow start

After a slow start with only one tie in their first four games, the Minden Atoms found their legs this weekend and came up with a pair of wins.

On Saturday with Port Carling visiting Minden, Stephen Beaver opened the scoring at 3:45 of the first period on a pass from Oliver Greer. However, at 4:06 Rick Smit tied the score on a nice solo effort. Minden took the lead again at 5:57 when Jason Klett converted a Corbie Kent pass. Port Carling tied the score once more, when Rick Smit took a pass from Kevin Quinn and notched his second of the day.

Minden took the lead to say with only five seconds left in the first, when Chris Todd scored from Corbie Kent and Dan Magee.

Minden got the only goal of the second period when Oliver Greer scored from Corbie Kent.

At the start of the third period, Port Carling forced the play in the Minden end and drew within one goal, when Kevin Quinn scored at 1:11. However, that was to be the end of the threat, as the Minden boys settled down and played well for the rest of the game. Oliver Greer added an insurance goal at 4:44, unassisted, to secure the victory. Final score - Minden 5 and Port Carling 3.

On Sunday the Atoms travelled to MacTier and came away with their second win in twenty-four hours. Minden had several scoring chances early in the game, but didn't find the mark until 7:43 of the first period when Oliver Greer scored on a long shot.

Minden seemed to lag in the second period and MacTier took advantage of this. Both Aaron Hie and Joel Cox, in the Minden nets, had to come up with big saves to keep the opposition off the scoreboard. With just 12 seconds remaining in the second period, MacTier cracked the goaltender's armour when Vince Fitchett scored from Richard Spykerman to tie the score.

In the third period, the Minden players came back with a vengeance, scoring four unanswered goals. Jason Klett started the onslaught at 5:12 as he scored unassisted. The Minden boys kept the pressure on and at 6:16, Phillip Boyle made it 3 to 1, with assists from Oliver Greer and Stephen Beaver. Corbie Kent added two more for Minden, the first at 11:33 on a nice pass from Chris Todd, and the second at 13:13, unassisted, to make the final score Minden 5, MacTier 1.

The Atoms' next home games are Saturday, November 17 at 1:30 p.m. against Bobcaygeon and Tuesday, November 20 at 7:30 p.m., when their opposition will be MacTier.

What was said

Victoria - Haliburton MPP John Eakins recently questioned the Minister of Transportation and Communications James Snow, about the condition of provincial highways and funding for municipal road work. The questions were raised during the October 18 sitting of the Provincial Legislature, and included the following exchange as recorded in Hansard:

Mr. Eakins: Mr. Speaker, my question for the Minister of Transportation and Communications relates to the issue of municipal roads in Ontario.

I am sure the minister is aware of and has read the recent report of The Road Information Program of Canada on the condition of municipal roads in Ontario. The report points out that the condition of these roads is so serious that some 61 per cent of Ontario's paved municipal road system will need either resurfacing or reconstruction over the next five years. This is on top of the 2,000 kilometres of the province's highways that are already below his own ministry's standards. Over the next five years another 7,000 kilometres of these highways will also need resurfacing and reconstruction.

What steps is his ministry going to take to repond to the condition of the road system? Specifically, how much of an increase in actual expenditures will the government provide for road repair spending to deal with the present situation?

Hon. Mr. Snow: Mr. Speaker, I am sure the honourable member must realize I cannot answer that question. I will supply to the municipalities an increase of whatever this Legislature provides for that vote, or whatever the ministry is allocated for municipal roads. We will continue to distribute that to the municipalities, as we have been doing for many years.

Mr. Eakins: The minister's government has reduced funding in real dollars for road repairs and subsidies. In fact, there has been $50 million less in tender calls by his ministry for road construction thus far than in the same time last year.

Why did the minister tell the Ontario Good Roads Association last February. "It is very difficult to demonstrate to the public the need to spend large sums on road maintenance until after the roads have deteriorated to a point where it will cost much more to almost totally rebuild them"?

Last year when I asked the minister about the reduction in funding, he said, as he said today, that he could only spend the amount of money the Legislature gives to him. Will the minister assure us road repair will be a priority and this government will bring before the House a five-year plan for road spending that will reverse the present decline in the road system?

Hon. Mr. Snow: I have explained many times in estimates and so on, and as all the members of the House know, our budget has been severely constrained over the past number of years, as is the case with every other ministry. We recognize the need to maintain the road system. Our highest priority is to maintain the existing infrastructure. We have to maintain our existing road system and we have to give that a higher priority than building a new capacity, whether it be a complete new alignment or an increase in capacity on an existing line. We have continued to extend a higher priority to our own provincial road system, to resurfacing and maintenance, in order to maintain the system and not to let it deteriorate, and it has not done so.

The TRIP report came out and said, I believe, that eight per cent of Ontario's highways would need resurfacing during the next period of time. If the honourable member would get his research staff going a little bit and ask what that report said for the other provinces, he would find that in some of the other provinces it was 40, 50 or 60 percent. I think if only eight per cent of our roads are found to need something to be done to them - I am talking of provincial roads - then that is not too bad.

A little care..... .....gets it there

Thousands of gifts, purchased lovingly and sent with the best wishes, inundate the mails at Christmastime - and a little extra care can help assure their safe arrival.

Canada Post Corporation reports that fibreboard boxes are usually strong enough for most gift parcels, at least up to about 10 kilograms. Most good boxes have a weight certification printed on the bottom telling the weight limit for that box. An envelope is designed for a letter and should not be used for a parcel.

Other containers may also be acceptable, such as wooden and paperboard boxes, metal cans, mailing tubes and even reinforced bags. Note: when using mailing tubes, use a stiff rod to prevent the tube from bending.

Whatever container is used, there should be enough extra room for padding around the contents, but not so much roiom as to permit shifting or juggling of the contents.

Liquids and powders in particular should be packed in double, leakproof containers, Canada Post says.

Cushioning is important in a package to keep the contents from banging against one another. Good choices for this job include those peanut-shaped polystyrene puffs, crushed or shredded newspapers, sheets of bubble plastic and fiberboard inserts.

If the box itself is solid, Canada Post prefers that outside wrapping be omitted, although paper can be used if it is about the same strength as a grocery bag.

The parcel should be closed with filament-reinforced tape, which is also good to use as reinforcing in several directions around the parcel. Good quality cellulose tape can also be used but not masking tape.

Twine and cord are permitted, but the post office tries to discourage their use because they tend to get caught in mail processing equipment.

Obviously the parcel should be clearly addressed, including the postal code of both sender and recipient. Canada Post also suggests including a slip of paper inside with the recipient's name and address, in case the outside label gets damaged. That slip can also list the contents of the parcel. If a number of small gifts are mailed in a parcel, the sender can write the telephone number of each recipient on the back of the gift tag so that the gift can be delivered if the parcel is broken open in shipment.

Special markings may also be included on the package to warn postal workers that special care may be needed.

For example, if the contents are breakable, label the package "Fragile" in three places - above the address, below the postage and on the opposite side. Parcels containing foods or other items that may decay should be marked "Perishable" in the same locations.

And photos and similar items which are protected with cardboard stiffening should be labeled "Do not bend". It is a wise idea to put your name and address on the film itself so that it can be returned if the package is broken open.

Remember parcels may be sent several ways. In addition to regular parcel post, faster delivery can be obtained by using: First Class, Special Delivery or Priority Post. The counter clerk will be pleased to help customers to ship their parcels the best way.

Canada Post customers may insure their parcels at the time of mailing. Again, customers should ask the counter clerk for advice and assistance.

A handy publication, "Proper Packaging Tips" is available at the local post office.

Good luck to all our public school pupils who are suffering through exams again.

The following words of wisdom were sent to us by our old friend, Cliff Lacey.

If you open it - close it.
If you turn it on - turn it off.
If you unlock it - lock it up.
If you break it - admit it.
If you can't fix it - call in someone who can.
If you borrow it - return it.
If you value it - take care of it.
If you make a mess - clean it up.
If you move it - put it back.
If it belongs to someone else and you want to use it - get permission.
If you don't know how to operate it - leave it alone.
If it ain't broke - don't fix it.
If it will brighten someone's day - SAY IT!

Lots of activity around here this weekend, you know. Saturday afternoon we had a puppet show, the Mermaid Puppet Theatre called Annie's pet. We don't know who was in it, but it was acted really well and we enjoyed every minute.

People coming and going all the time, here on week-ends. Mary Oliver's son Raymond comes to visit his mother from time to time and sometimes to dine. Della Curry's son and wife come and take his mother out. Winnie Johnson's son comes and wheels his mother all about. Our daughter and husband who we were glad to see, they stayed and had lunch with me.

We are sorry that the Rev. Burgess's family is down with something, we wonder if it is the flu . The Thompson's are looking after the chapel service Sunday nights and doing a good job too.

We have Edna Cowan in Peterborough Hospital, and Ina McGuire just came back from there after a three week stay, it is nice to have her back again, we would like to say.

Our sympathy from all here on this 5th November day, to the families and relatives of the late Margaret Harrison, who has just passed away.

Linda showed us three real interesting movies Monday night. They were really interesting and also quite a sight.

Tuesday morning Julie Kennedy, assistant to Rev. John Phillips of Haliburton came down here, our chapel pulpit to fill for Rev. George Elliott who has been quite ill. She brought a real interesting message, and as I write this letter we want to thank Julie for coming and hope Rev. George will feel much better soon.

Tuesday afternoon I was pleased to have Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cooper and Merril Brown from Bradford visit me today. Merril wanted to call on others before they went away. We would like to thank Darryl Crowe for coming back this Tuesday night, the first time since last spring. He is a good entertainer, we always like to hear him play and sing.

Well our Christmas Tea and Bazaar are over and I guess by the number of people attending it was a beautiful success.

Congratulations to Ada Allcorn we would like to say, she was born 90 years ago on the 8th November day.

Thursday afternoon the ladies from the Gospel Lighthouse church, along with Pastor Taylor and wife and their darling little son, not only did they bring a lovely lunch, but played and sang for us which was enjoyed by everyone.

Our maintenance men have taken our fish from our fish pond, which is just outside the diningroom window, you know. Put them in a tank in the basement, where they will be sheltered from the icy snow. Then when the weather warms up in the early spring, the men will put the fish back out again.

Lillie Hogg is looking forward to when her roommate Edna Cowan will be back with her again.

Sorry to miss sing-song this afternoon, but I have a sore arm and a very sore toe. So the doctor has me in the hospital for a few days, you know.

Tell you more next week.
